TokenStars, the first talent management platform on the blockchain, signs partnership agreement with Gomez Tennis Academy, Florida, USA.

TokenStars is pleased to announce the strategic partnership with Gomez Tennis Academy, based in Naples, Florida.

Gomez Tennis Academy is one of the renowned tennis educational institutions in the USA, founded in 2010 by Rene Gomez, who previously served as a coach at the Bollettieri Tennis Academy. While there, Rene was responsible for the daily training and travelling with some of the greatest players in the sport who, under his supervision, became top-ranked players in the world: Mary Pierce, Jim Courier, Tommy Haas, Max Mirnyi, Vince Spadea, Andre Agassi, Anna Kournikova and Monica Seles.

Rene Gomez, Head of Gomez Tennis Academy

Today, Rene brings his extensive coaching career to new students, developing young juniors into Grand Slam players. Rene understands that, in order to develop a player for high-level competition, it takes enormous dedication from both coach and student. It is this understanding that has defined his success in tennis for his entire life.

In order to help junior athletes focus on their professional career, Gomez Tennis Academy and TokenStars took a strategic decision to partner and support promising junior players in funding their financial expenses during studies in the Academy. In addition to that, TokenStars will provide marketing promotion for the Academy's players.

First results of the partnership are already on the plate. Two promising players from the Academy, Alexander Bernard and Blu Baker, have already joined the TokenStars scouting system.

We are honored to announce this partnership and we are sure that mutual sharing of the experience and expertise will help both TokenStars and Gomez Tennis Academy in the successful growth of their businesses in the long-term perspective.
