Important Step in Crypto Auctions Development

In H1 2018 TokenStars signed the partnership with AidCoin to drive the adoption of blockchain solutions for auctions and charity organizations.

- ✓ Blockchain-based project that aims to become the preferred method for crypto donations become TokenStars partner.
- ✓ Together with AidCoin, we will drive the adoption of transparent blockchain solutions.
- ✓ Through this cooperation, we can scale up the community and engage more celebrities.
- ✓ Our collaboration helps crypto owners to make easy and transparent donations.
- ✓ First crypto auction with AidCoin was held successfully.
- ✓ This partnership creates new opportunities for cross-promotion.

Crypto Auctions Module is one of the first blockchain-powered auctions in the market, ensuring transparency and transactions speed with smart contracts and cryptocurrencies. In partnership with AidChain, we launched a celebrity crypto auction for a professional Wilson Pro Staff tennis racquet with a personal signature of Dusan Lajovic.

AidCoin is the ERC20 token that aims to become the preferred method to donate transparently through the Ethereum blockchain and access the ecosystem of services provided by the AIDChain platform. AidCoin is developed and supported by CharityStars, an auction platform for charitable fundraising which has raised more than $12M in favour of 500+ charities.

Problem & Solution

43% of people don't trust charities. Using distributed ledgers to track transactions, cryptocurrencies to transfer funds and smart contracts to ensure donations are spent correctly, we are determined to make the nonprofit sector more transparent.

TokenStars plans to adopt AidCoin and to potentially integrate AIDChain platform and AIDPay, an embeddable widget that allows to accept donations in different cryptocurrencies. Using distributed ledgers to track transactions, cryptocurrencies to transfer funds and smart contracts to ensure donations are spent correctly, the collaboration is aimed to provide the transparency of bids, distribution of the raised fund, as well as the accurate target spending by the grantees.
