TokenStars April Report: This Five News Will Give You Ten

In 2019 TokenStars gained good momentum and this April is no exception. 2Q we started with new ambitious goals and strive to achieve them. This month we continued to expand our clients' portfolio, as well as cooperated more closely with our community, and signed a promising partnership agreement. In this report, we want to share the news that made this April:

1. New Pro Player On Board

One of the main events of the month was the signing of the contract with a football star Otávio Edmilson da Silva Monteiro. Otávio is a Brazilian attacking midfielder, playing for FC Porto. With his team, Otávio became the Portuguese League champion and won the Super Cup in 2018. This season he appeared in 32 games (5 goals, 8 assists), while FC Porto ties the first place in the championship.

We provide players with a wide range of new tools to interact with their fans and create their own fan clubs on TokenStars platform. Otávio will run exclusive activities with his fans on the TokenStars platform and cooperate more closely with ACE and TEAM token holders.

2. Promising Partnership Is Signed

Last month we found a collaboration opportunity that will expand our network, add expertise across new markets and introduce more talents and influencers to TokenStars community. In April we signed a partnership agreement with PATRON – Japanese influencer marketing platform, which raised $40 million in early 2018 and serves more than 70,000 micro-influencers.

Our partnership allows PATRON influencers to join TokenStars platform and run their interactions with fans and advertisers for ACE & TEAM tokens. Through this partnership, it will be easier for TokenStars players to enter the Asian markets. PATRON has especially strong expertise and network in the Japanese, Korean and Chinese regions, so our collaboration will allow players to increase their fan base and attract more sponsors.

3. Talented Juniors Joined TokenStars Platform

We're always glad to see that Scouting module attracts new talented players to our platform. In April we held votings for Aryaan Bhatia and Jasza Szajrych. Thanks to the community support, Aryaan moved to the negotiations stage and TokenStars has all the chances to sign a contract with this promising player.

Aryaan is currently ranked 8th overall in India and No.1 in the state of Maharashtra Pune. He has recently started at ITF Juniors and is striving to crack the Top 100 and represent India at various tournaments. Last autumn he participated in three ITF finals and keeps showing great results.

4. Community Involvement Grows With Bounty Campaigns

In April we, as always, held predictions contest, but this time we add not only a special prediction for contestants, but also a special mini-contest for 200 fastest participants. We wanted to support Klauss and LASK Linz in the important match and offered the community to join us and cheer for Klauss together. First participants, who started to follow TokenStars and Klauss on Instagram, received TEAM tokens. Top 100 participants of April Football Week also received their rewards.

Last month we also provided our users with an opportunity to walk a little in Klauss' shoes and pick the best picture, created for his bounty contest. Opinions were divided, but most chose the same poster as Klauss himself.

5. Achievements Section Released

We think it's important to provide our users with a convenient way to track the project's updates, that's why we added the Achievements section on our platform. In this section anyone can check all our news, results and case studies, so following TokenStars updates become easier than ever. Judging by the results of the voting in our public chat in Telegram, this release is useful and helpful, and we are pleased that it was warmly received by our community.
